Smarter Fluid Management

Integrity Fracturing is a technology based well stimulation Services Company focused on safety, quality, and environmental consciousness, while specializing in all aspect of O&G water. Integrity Frac specializes in managing all aspects of O&G water with bundled water transfer and frac on the fly treatment to streamline operations.

At Integrity Fracturing, we are the defining conduit that bridges the gap between corporate level financial goals and field level decision makers, providing complex service offerings in a simple and cost effective manner. Our core offering revolves around water conservation and reuse, with services including:

- Water treatment - various technologies at our disposal to deliver the necessary water quality.
- Water transfer - Low cost transfer with superb service bundled with frac on the fly treatment.
- Pressure Pumping - Remedial services include acid jobs, solvent flushes, and production enhancing chemistries.
- Production Chemistry - A suite of innovative products to remediate common production issues.

Integrity Frac's Water Treatment Division prides itself in staying ahead of the curve and implementing the newest & safest technologies on the market. By maintaining a technology neutral stance IF achieves the necessary water quality through various licensed technology providers. With various engineers and chemist's, IF provides complex solutions as a simple, cost effective service offering. Various technologies available include:

- Clarification – lowest cost available for produced water reuse, particularly in slick water operations.
- Bacteria control – Patented onsite chemical generation for on the fly bacteria kill for all types of water.
- Desalination - Partner technologies are available to provide distillation or RO for fresh water projects.

Integrity Frac's Water Transfer Division provides a professional, lay flat transfer coupled with the lowest cost reuse program available. By integrating water treatment during water transfer operations, IF passes the saving onto the customer to reduce completion costs and incentivize reuse.

Integrity Frac's Pressure Pumping Division provides professional, experienced pressure pumping services focused on innovative solutions to increase production. From traditional pump down and pressure testing services to complex nano technology. Integrity Frac has the solution necessary to maximize production services including:

- Pump Down
- Acidizing
- Remedial Pumping
